

The Alliance for Camphill is a formally constituted independent association of individuals who support the core principles of the worldwide Camphill movement; specifically:

- a. Self-managing intentional communities, schools and colleges based on the image of the human being and society articulated by Rudolf Steiner and Karl Koenig;
- b. Collaborative collegial working, including non-salaried, vocational status where this is freely chosen by co-workers and acknowledged as legal and compliant by the authorities;
- c. In the case of adult communities, partnership in life and work with (rather than primarily care provision for) people of all abilities and support needs;
- d. Living arrangements including shared households based on individual needs and preferences;
- e. Full and appropriate engagement and empowerment of stakeholders in governance, supportive and advisory structures.

The Aims and Purpose of the Alliance are:

- a. To promote the above principles as an important contribution to society and to the dignity and freedom of human beings with all types of ability and disability;
- b. To campaign, lobby, represent and where appropriate negotiate in defending, preserving and further developing communities based on these principles.
- c. To provide positive practical and financial support to individuals and groups working to uphold the core principles, and to request, collect and distribute funds freely given to support these aims.
- d. To collaborate with other groups and organisations whose aims and approach are compatible with those of the Alliance.

If you support these core principles and aims and wish to become a member of the Alliance for Camphill, please e-mail the secretary at emelinerj@hotmail.com .
